Wine Country Network announces its 2015 Charity of Choice

There With Care is chosen as the 2015 Charity of Choice for the Denver International Wine Festival

DENVER, Colorado – February 17, 2015

Wine Country Network, Inc., has announced There With Care as its 2015 Charity of Choice. 100% of auction proceeds at the 2015 Denver International Wine Festival in October will be donated to There With Care, an organization dedicated to helping families and children facing critical illness.

There With Care was founded in 2005 by Paula DuPre' Pesmen, from the producing team of the Harry Potter films. After her husband was diagnosed with colon cancer in 2000, Paula learned firsthand how difficult it can be for a family to get through a loved one's critical illness. In addition to the day-to-day stresses, simple but necessary everyday tasks become overwhelming. With a loved one in treatment or in the hospital, the entire family needs support.

There With Care provides this much-needed help for families in such a situation. With the help of the community, There With Care provides needed assistance with grocery and meal deliveries, food preparation, transportation to and from treatment, babysitting, and other types of everyday services. Families are referred through licensed social workers at 15 hospitals and hospice agencies and There With Care next identifies a family's main stresses to relieve them of some of the practical, psychological and emotional burdens.

Wine Country Network has partnered with There With Care as its 2015 Charity of Choice for five Wine Country Network events in Colorado throughout the year. Through partnerships like these, There With Care is able to extend many types of vital care to its families in their critical time of need.

"There With Care's goal is to surround the families with care during a fragile time. We are proud and grateful to partner with Wine Country Network, which understands the importance of this partnership, that ultimately will provide crucial support to a family during a crisis and allow parents time to focus on their children."
